Authorities From UC Riverside Are Citrus Men's Club Speakers

EXETER — Inside story of activities in the Citrus Research department of the University of California at Riverside will be presented at a meeting of the Citrus Men's club, Friday noon, January 28, in the Exeter Memorial building, at Exeter.

Coming from the University to present a panel discussion will be Dr. W.M. Dugger Jr., Dean, College of Biological and Agricultural Sciences; and Dr. Lowell N. Lewis, Associate Dean for research, College of Biology and Agriculture.

General subjects will include research activities now underway at the University; new developments that may be forthcoming; and economic aspects of the research department, which, through the years has been involved in virtually every area of the citrus industry.

"Research is necessary if citrus growers are to stay in business," says Ned Baker, president of the Citrus Men's club. "We believe this program will have special interest for all persons connected with the citrus industry in any way."

No reservations are necessary for the January 28 noon meeting. The Citrus Men's club is composed of citrus growers in the producing areas of the southern San Joaquin valley.

GIANTS' OUTFIELDER BOBBY BONDS SPEAKER FOR JAYCEE BOSSES NIGHT

PORTERVILLE — A guest appearance by San Francisco Giants' Outfielder Bobby Bonds will highlight the Porterville Jaycees' annual Bosses Night Banquet, set for Monday, January 24 at 7:30 p.m. in Gang Sue's restaurant.

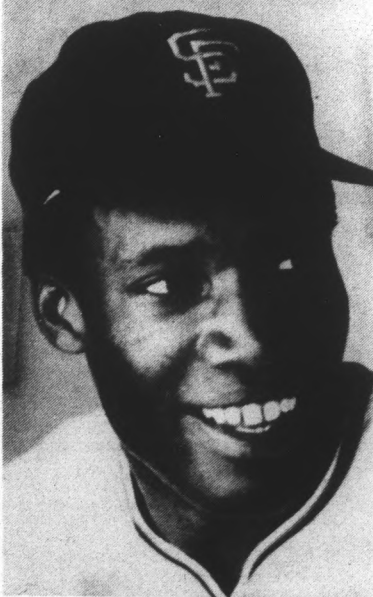

In addition to discussing the full sports spectrum with the audience, Bonds will present a film entitled "More Flags to Follow" featuring exciting moments from the Giants' spectacular 1971 ball season.

Bonds was signed by the Giants in 1964, following an active athletic career in baseball, basketball, football, and track at Riverside Polytechnic high school. He has since chalked up an admirable hitting record, beginning with a grand slam home run in 1968 during his first major league ball game, and in 1969 became the youngest and the fourth player in baseball history to hit more than 30 home runs and steal thirty or more bases in a single season.

Bonds hit 32 home runs that season and stole 45 bases in 49 tries. He also tied Cincinnati's Pete Rose for the National League lead with 120 runs scored.

Other Bosses Night activities will include: announcement of "Boss of the Year," selected by the Jaycee board of directors as the employer who has most actively supported Jaycee activities during the past year; presentation of the Jaycees' Distinguished Service award, given traditionally to a young man who has made an outstanding contribution to the community; and the Outstanding Young Educator award.

FARM EQUIPMENT SHOW THEME IS AGRI-ACTION '72

TULARE — "Agri-Action '72" will be the theme of the February 8, 9, and 10 California Farm Equipment show at the Tulare County fairgrounds, with farm machinery of the future to be the featured attraction of an anticipated crowd of 100,000 visitors.

Gates for the show - the largest of its kind in the western United States - will open at 9:00 a.m. each of the three days and will close at 5:00 p.m. according to Show Chairman Keith Hutchison.

This year's show, said Hutchison, will include the most modern line of farm equipment available to the agricultural industry today, plus displays of prototypes of harvester and crop handling equipment such as lettuce harvesters, melon harvesters, raisin pick-up and spreading equipment, tomato samplers and color sorting equipment, and a boysenberry harvester.

In addition, the University of California agricultural engineering department has prepared an exhibit of antique farm engines which have been staged to approximate actual operation under field conditions.

Tools and services involved in mechanization of grape harvesting, deciduous fruits, citrus, field and row crops, and the dairy and livestock industry will also be on display.

In total, said Hutchison, this year's show will boast more than 350 exhibitors displaying in excess of $6 million in agricultural equipment and services.

Extension service personnel will also be presenting special

Wind Machines, Water, Heaters Save Citrus Groves

VISALIA — Tulare county citrus growers apparently used wind machines, water, and lighting heaters effectively in combating recent freezing temperatures - as low as 26 degrees some nights - according to County Agricultural Commissioner Elvin Mankins.

Mankins stated that damage to citrus doesn't appear to be nearly as severe as was first anticipated, although some grading out is underway where heaters were not used. Fruit that had full protection appears to have come through in good shape with minimal grading, said Mankins.

Fruit that had no protection is showing severe damage, he added, as was expected.

"There is enough protected fruit," said Mankins, "to fill all orders, and packing houses are letting questionable fruit wait to see if evidence of freezing develops."

Other crops have not gone unaffected by the cold and foggy weather, said Mankins. Small grain planting continues, but growth is almost at a standstill due to the cold and rangeland grass growth has been slowed considerably.

Fields that are up already, however, appear to be in good shape.

AGRICULTURAL FIELD DAY SATURDAY AT PC

PORTERVILLE — Representatives of the Porterville College Aggies club, with President Richard Stover serving as general chairman, will welcome approximately 300 high school agriculture students and 4-H club members from throughout California to the college's Third Annual 4-H-FFA Field day on Saturday, January 22.

Schools represented will be from as far north as Modesto and as far south as Santa Maria according to College Faculty Advisor Rick Patterson, as well as teams from most major communities in the San Joaquin valley.

Contests will begin at the college at 9:00 a.m. in ornamental horticulture, citrus judging, farm power safety, and entomology, with livestock judging to be held at Porterville fair grounds. Students will be judged by qualified representatives of each industry division according to College Faculty Advisor Sam Baker.

Ornamental horticulture contestants will be judged in identification of plant and tree species and plant quality; farm power judging will involve machinery safety and handling techniques; citrus will involve both tree and fruit quality judging and citriculture; entomology will include insect identification and control methods; and livestock judging will include sheep, beef, and swine.

Members of Porterville-area 4-H clubs will participate in livestock judging and entomology only, said Baker.

Contests are expected to be concluded by 1:00 p.m. with awards presentations to begin at 2:00 p.m. Tabulation of scoring will be conducted by teams coordinating the judges' material in room B-3 at the college.

Prizes will include perpetual trophies in each division, high

Says Hammond, "I am the permanent wagonmaster; it is now the Hammond Mail run; business henceforth will be conducted under Hammond rules of order; my sergeant-at-arms is Hoss Hammond; my picture will be on the Hammond Mail stamp; I have decreed that the Hammond Mail will hit the 190 trail on March 25; the meeting is adjourned until I get ready to call another one. ## Editorial Comment

YES, WE HATE TAXES, BUT...

Yes, we hate to pay taxes. (People in Porterville have hated to pay taxes for more than a hundred years. If you don't believe that, read through the files of old newspapers)

Yes, property taxes are approaching the unbearable point. (They've been approaching this point for a hundred years. Ref., stories and editorial comments in old newspapers)

Yes, during the next hundred years, people will hate to pay taxes and whatever system of taxation may be developed, taxes will still be approaching the unbearable point. (This is speculation on our part, but it seems logical when history is projected into the future)

Yes, But, in spite of the burden of taxation, people of the Porterville area have, for a hundred years, found the means to provide schools for their children.

Not elaborate schools, but solid, adequate schools.

Now the past, the present and the future are coming together again, on February 8, when voters will decide whether or not to provide a million and a half dollars for the elementary school district, not dollars to be spent for elaborate facilities, but dollars that will be spent on a sound, logical program that fits well into the traditional Porterville concept of finding a way to make solid, adequate education available to our young people.

We believe that parents, parents-to-be, and grandparents will keep faith with Porterville tradition, and with a basic responsibility inherent in the American system, by saying "Yes" when they stamp their February 8 ballot.

The case of battery on Frank Kuenster by W.R. Clack, tried yesterday before Judge Beebe and a jury, resulted in the defendant being found guilty. Mr. Clack defended himself and essayed to prove that he was much aggravated by the prosecuting witness' dog holding his hog down and was justified in hitting Mr. Kuenster. The jury, however, did not see it that way. He was fined $15 or 15 days. He paid the fine.

W. Potter, who lives this side of Woodville, will be careful in the future to whom he extends his hospitality. Last week he gave a strange man who came along work, intending to keep him on. Thursday, he had occasion to go to Tulare and left the man on the ranch. When Mr. Potter returned he found the ungrateful fellow had decamped, taking along his wagon, horses and harness, saddle, and bridle. So far no trace of him has been obtained.

School Bond Voters Will Receive Yes Arguments With Sample Ballot

PORTERVILLE — Arguments favoring a "yes" vote in the Porterville Elementary School District's $1,525,000 bond election, February 8, have been accepted by Tulare County Clerk Jay Bayless for inclusion with sample ballots that all voters residing within the school district will receive prior to election day.

The statement was prepared by elected members of the Porterville Elementary School District board of trustees, working with representatives of a Citizen's Master Plan Advisory committee that has been studying elementary school problems, and possible solutions, for more than two years.

R.L. Schafer, chairman of the Citizen's Advisory committee, and Dr. James T. Shelton, chairman of the school board, said in a joint statement, "We believe the 'argument in favor' of the bond election is a fair, brief presentation of facts concerning the status of physical needs within the school district."

They emphasized that the program to be financed by bonds was not hastily planned, but resulted from more than two years of study by committee and board members.

They also said that committee members and school board members were "in total agreement" that the most economical and practical method of improving school facilities was through modernization of some buildings and replacement of others.

Points covered in the "argument in favor" statement are:

(1) If an adequate educational program is to be continued within the Porterville Elementary School district, some buildings must be renovated and upgraded; other buildings must be replaced; certain facilities must be expanded; and modern instructional equipment must be provided.

(2) Classrooms and service buildings that will be replaced do not comply with California's Field act (1933 earthquake safety law). Under this existing law, all school buildings must be brought into compliance by 1975, or be abandoned.

(3) Classrooms and service buildings that do comply with the Field act but have deteriorated because of use and age will be modernized for an additional 30-40 years of service.

(4) Engineering studies show that the combination of building replacement and building modernization is the most economical method of accomplishing necessary upgrading of Porterville Elementary School District facilities.

(5) Purchase of permanent instructional equipment will improve and strengthen the educational program for children attending Porterville elementary schools.

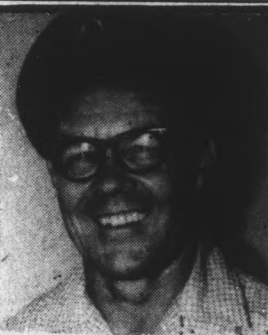

(6) Total proposed program of facilities modernization and construction will make possible the year-around use of school facilities.

NUCLEAR ENGINEER WILL SPEAK AT PORTERVILLE COLLEGE

PORTERVILLE — University of California Berkeley Professor of Nuclear Engineering Thomas Pigford will speak at Porterville college on Friday, January 21 at 8:00 p.m. on nuclear power plants.

Pigford will appear through arrangements made by members of the U.C. Alumni Club of Southeastern Tulare county according to First Vice President Al Boettcher of Porterville. His presentation, said Boettcher, will be open to the general public and is being made due to current interest in nuclear plants in the Porterville area.

Pigford, prior to becoming professor of nuclear engineering at Berkeley in 1959, was director of nuclear reactor projects and assistant director of research laboratory for General Atomic 1957-1959. He is also presently chairman of the Nuclear Engineering department, Berkeley Campus and since 1963 has been a member of the Atomic Safety and Licensing Board panel.

Since 1968 he has been chairman of the Reactor Safeguards Committee of the U.S. Geological survey, and has some 35 publications to his credit on atomic related subjects.

Federal, State Officials Examining California Welfare Recipient List

SACRAMENTO - At least 700,000 persons in the United States now on welfare are ineligible for these benefits, according to State Director of Social Welfare Robert Carleson.

Carleson, in a report on findings of the U.S. Department of Health, Education, and Welfare, stated that "hundreds of millions of dollars are being wasted in overpayments caused by administrative error and fraud."

"The results announced by HEW should come as no surprise to the citizens of California," said Carleson. "Recognition and correction of excessive error rates in welfare payments has been one of the foundation stones of the Governor's Welfare Reform program."

He added that his department has developed and is currently implementing a statewide welfare management information system to solve the problem of administrative errors; is developing a central computer system to prevent duplicate payments; and will further develop the system to cross-check statewide employment and tax records to prevent accidental, incidental, and intentional misstatements from causing inappropriate payments to be made.

Carleson stated that one of his first actions as director last year was to "request the State Department of Finance to assess the magnitude of errors in California's welfare system."

They found, said Carleson, that a potential net $51 million in overpayments was being made to California recipients every year. This was the net value of overpayment after underpayments had been subtracted - thus representing a real loss of $51 million a year to California taxpayers.

Carleson stated that the new program implemented by his department combines the fiscal audit staff with the quality control unit to bring correction of errors "right to the recipients door-step to determine precisely what errors have been made."

Happiness is really a day without fog. We suspect there will be many of these happy days over the next few months and then all of the pent up energy of the plants and people will burst forth all at one time. The dirt will really fly before long and wise husbands will either hide out or develop a "tired back."

For the braver fools we have a wonderful selection of bare-root stock. This is a name given to plants which are grown in fields and then dug up without keeping the soil around the roots. It includes roses, fruit trees, shade trees, grape vines, berries, and maybe an occasional gopher. It used to be all planting was limited to bare-root season because housewives hadn't invented the tin can yet and nurserymen couldn't find enough pottery vessels to plant things in.

We worry a little about our dependence on used cans for planting because if the women of the world turn to some other form of food container we will be forced to use old artillery shells or maybe even hub caps. This could lead to more profitable wars or a rash of hub cap thievery neither of which would improve our image.

However you may improve your image if you hurry on down and have a look at the All-American Roses for nineteen seventy two. You may also improve your garden's image by spraying with Calsul dormant spray. Come as you are to "E" Street just north of Olive.
